CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Dr. John C. Almack

"What Next in Education" will be the topic of Dr. John C. Almack, Professor of Education at Stanford University, in his address to the general assembly of the annual Educational Conference to be held in Monmouth April 29.

Dr. Almack has spent a great part of his life in the Pacific Northwest and comes to us with a wide knowledge of educational problems confronting teachers in Oregon. He received his A.B. degree from the University of Oregon in 1918, his A. M. degree in 1921.

Crimson O Plays Presented Tonight

"Death — death flowers, that's what they are." So runs the theme of Tuberoses, one of the three plays to be presented by Crimson O Play-er on Friday, April 28, in the OCE auditorium.

Something different in the way of settings will be seen in the comedy, "Midnight Sailing." As the title suggests, the scene for this play takes place aboard the Empress of India where anything might happen. For instance did you ever see Rickie Cantrell jilted? Just watch what Lorena Burchfield, in the person of a sentimental society girl does to him when the young artist, Myron Vleck, comes along. But, then of course, sweet winsome Verna Muhr is on hand to save the situation.

The fantasy presents Cliff Rich and Caroline Weigand as uneducated islanders who believe in spirits and who earn their living by fishing. Rudy Rada, as a hardware salesman, and Evelyn Shearer as an impulsive college girl and Charles Coleman and Lorraine Crosby as the old man and woman of the island, complete the cast.

If you want to see Martha Blair and Sylvia Claggett at their dramatic best, Georgia Post with tuberculosis, Rosella Heppner as a husband-snatcher and Gordon Russell on the trail of some hot news, don't miss the Crimson O plays on April 28. Remember the curtain rises promptly at 8:15.

Music Festival

Friday, May 5, the Polk County Music Festival will be held on the OCE campus. About 1,000 children are expected to participate in the pre-music week event, which will be conducted in the physical education building from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Upper grade, intermediate and primary choruses, harmonica bands, rhythm bands and orchestras will be featured. Rehearsals will be held Friday morning from 10:00 to 12:00.

GREETINGS

It is a matter of great pride and satisfaction to the Educational Conference Committee to have the teachers of Oregon return year after year to the programs arranged for them. We rejoice in old friendships renewed, new ones made, and in the splendid professional spirit manifested by the sacrifices made in coming to Monmouth during this busy time of the year. We sincerely hope you will enjoy our program, that the exhibits, the luncheons, banquets and the whole conference will be so pleasant and valuable to you that it will more than repay the sacrifice and effort made to get here.

We bid you welcome as our co-workers in "Education for Democracy." For the committee:

Psychologists Discuss Problems

By Bernie Grafton

The Oregon Psychological Association convention convened Saturday, April 15 with a number of outstanding psychologists from the University of Oregon, Oregon State college, University of Washington, and Oregon College of Education being present. The opening sessions started at ten o'clock with Dr. L. E. Forbes, psychology professor of Oregon College of Education, introducing the speakers. The morning session was devoted to the place of motivation in psychology.

Raymond Brooks of the University of Oregon opened the discussions with "The Use of Prediction Tables in Parole Procedure," showing the history of the tables, how they are used and developed. In the discussion it was brought out that there was a correlation between the success of the parolee and the nature of the crime and the type of environment the individual was accustomed to before becoming a criminal. At present Oregon does not have the prediction tables and the possibilities of the success of the parolee is largely a matter of guess.

Governor C. A. Sprague

Governor Charles A. Sprague of Oregon will address the educators Saturday afternoon during the general assembly in the Campbell hall auditorium at 3:00 p.m.

Miss Helen Heffernan

In the afternoon session of the annual Educational Conference to be held in Monmouth on April 29, Miss Helen Heffernan, chief of the division of elementary education at Sacramento, California, will address the group on the topic of "What Society Has a Right to Expect from the School." Miss Heffernan is a noted authority on problems of rural and elementary education.

The early part of Miss Heffernan's educational career was spent as a teacher in the elementary and secondary schools of California and later as Rural Supervisor of King county, California. During the summer, Miss Heffernan is an instructor at the University of California and at Stanford University.

Junior Formal Proves Success

Compliments are due the junior class for the enjoyable formal given in the gymnasium Saturday evening. The affair was undoubtedly the most outstanding ever given at Oregon Normal. Adorning the gymnasium was the "Ferdinand the Bull" scheme. Lilies against the white picket fence on the bleachers also added to the picturesque decorating scheme. Jack Berry's orchestra of Salem played for the dance.

Patrons and patronesses who attended were Miss Helen Anderson, Dr. and Mrs. V. V. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Christensen, Miss Dora Scheffsky, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Barrows and Miss Eloise Buck. Several other faculty members, alumni and friends were in attendance.

Edward Miller, general chairman of the formal; Jerome Hanlon, the artist who drew the drawings; and the decoration committee earned wide recognition for their work.

Norm To Be Ready May 22

Esther Bracken, editor of the 1939 Norm, has released the news that students may expect the circulation of a completed yearbook during the week of May 22. (Autograph fiends please note the ample time available to secure signatures.)

Although this issue of the Norm is to be entirely different from any former issue on the campus the staff feels confident that it will meet with the approval of the students.

To Mrs. Marie Erickson is due a vote of thanks for her willingness in contributing her time and talents toward making the Norm a success.

Students; something to show your grandchildren and the folks back home—buy a Norm!

OCE Students Hosts to Parents

The program this year for All Parents week-end will be varied and will contain entertainments which, we hope, will prove interesting to all who visit our campus.

The archery tournament on Saturday afternoon will give our guests an opportunity to see the skill of some students and the program on Saturday night will give them a chance to hear vocalists and other musicians and to see dancers and actors.

A dance has been arranged to give parents a chance to see what type of social activities are available to the students and also give those parents who enjoy dancing a chance to mingle with their sons and daughters.

The committee in charge has been working hard and hopes that the program will prove of interest. Any students who have suggestions or ideas to submit, should get in touch with one of the committee members.

May 13 and 14 is the date for All Parents week-end. It promises to be an outstanding event of the year.

Plans for Study Tour Complete

The registration for the California-Golden Gate study tour, which will begin July 22, is nearly completed, only a few more places are available.

The tour will be conducted by Dr. J. Norman Carls, geology and geography instructor, with Miss Dora Scheffsky in the capacity of social adviser. Prior to the date of departure there will be a five-day period of classroom and library work in preparation for the trip, and a total of six credit hours may be earned upon completion of the tour, three in geography and three in geology. The credits do not duplicate any previously earned credits, and will be considered as additional work in the fields of geography and geology.

Reservations of tourist courts on the route of the trip have been made and Mrs. Victor Lindahl of Monmouth has been employed as cook. The tour is functionally a field trip in the study of geology and geography, but as an interesting sidelight there will be approximately seven days spent at the San Francisco exposition, and a week end at the famous Monterey Beach, which will be the southern-most point reached on the tour.

Some of those already registered are young teachers, while others are students of O.C.E. and U. of O. The following is a list of those already registered:

GREETINGS!

Education Day on the campus of the Oregon College of Education is a most important one. Each year there gather here not only the leaders in elementary education but also the members of the Alumni. To one and all we extend our greeting and wish for a most pleasant and profitable day. — J. A. CHURCHILL, President.

Alumni Answer

In response to a summons from their alma mater, alumni are walking across the campus of OCE and recapturing memories of college days gone by. We welcome them.

The opulent rose bushes and majestic fir grove remain to enhance the recalling of friendships—both old and new; the stained Gothic windows point upward in the symbolization of an ancient heritage; the vine-covered walls of Campbell hall compliment the springtime beauty of the dignified campus.

Many of the present students, as well as those returning, have wondered about the origin of the beautiful fir grove which so silently stands guard on our campus. A clipping from the Monmouth Herald of some time past tells us:

"The first pioneers, who came from the east, loved the verdant trees of our valley so much that as soon as possible they planted them about their homesteads and around their schools. One Saturday several men with teams and wagons brought fir and maple trees and the planting took place, the young men of the school aiding the men in setting out the trees. At noon, everyone, young and old, enjoyed a dinner of a kind now obsolete.

"When the trees were yet young and pliable the children of the town used them for teeters and playground equipment. Today, few of those children are living, while the trees stand tall and sturdy, a memorial to those early pioneers.

"Through all the years the grove has silently watched an ever-changing school and campus; it is so much a part of Normal days that one cannot conceive of the school without the fir trees."

Wilbur Rowe, president of the alumni association, was on the OCE campus Friday, April 14, to make final arrangements for the alumni meeting and banquet to be held on Saturday evening during the Educational Conference. Mr. Rowe, who is superintendent of the Milwaukie city schools, is a graduate of Oregon Normal school and while attending school he was president of the junior class.

All alumni are urged to stay for the meeting and banquet.

EDITOR RESIGNS

Bernard Grafton, editor of the Lamron for the past year, resigned Monday, April 17. Bernie has been with the paper for two years and deserves much credit for many hours of hard work. He did a fine job of editing the paper and we're going to miss his face around the office. Here's hoping the next editor will keep up the good work.

Organize New Club

On Tuesday evening a selected group of students met with two instructors, Miss Dora Scheffsky and Miss Mary Donaldson, for the purpose of forming a new professional organization (Future Teachers of America) within the National Education Association. The purpose of the new club is to arouse the interest of capable elementary and secondary school pupils in fitting themselves for the teaching profession.

Officers for the club were elected as follows: Harvey Williams, president; Earl Tuthill, vice-president; Sylvia Claggett, secretary-treasurer.

The club unanimously voted the name of the organization to be the Churchill Chapter of the Future Teachers of America in recognition of President J. A. Churchill's outstanding services in the field of education.

PSYCHOLOGICAL MEETING

The Oregon State Prison Board, however, is attempting to get some information and compile prediction tables.

"What Can Psychology Contribute to the Value Theory?" was the subject of a report given by Mortimer Andron of the Department of Economics of the University of Oregon. In his discussion Mr. Andron brought out the fact that the study of the problem of human motivation was the most important movement in present day psychological reasoning, and that it is difficult to determine what causes actual values to be placed on materials.

"A Critique of the Psychological Implications of Dialectical Materialism", was given by Robert Knapp from the University of Oregon. In the discussion Mr. Knapp pointed out that the defense of economic interest led America into the last Great War.

"Some Proposals for Research Studies by Psychologists in Regard to War as a Social Phenomenon" was the subject of an address by Dr. H. R. Taylor of the University of Oregon. It was brought out that war is caused by an outbreak of aggressive tendencies due to some frustrations that have smoldered over a long period of time. The feeling of grievance, if not directed against a neighbor, is directed toward some member within the group. Usually the leaders of these aggressive movements are pathological cases.

R. W. Leeper, of the University of Oregon, discussed "What Does Lewin's System Contribute to American Psychology" and in this paper again the importance of motivation was pointed out.

The problems of child development and the relationship of the mother and the child was discussed by Miss Sara Prentiss, Oregon State College, in a report of "A Case of Resistance from the Point of View of the Mother and of the Child."

"An Experimental Study of Lewin's Dynamic Forces" was discussed by Charles MacLean, University of Oregon.

Dr. A. S. Jensen, professor of psychology at the Oregon College of Education, opened the afternoon discussion.

"Learning in Amblystoma Larvae" was the subject of a report given by J. C. Welch, University of Oregon, in which Mr. Welch showed the stages of learning in cerebral hemispheres, and that the lower down the scale in animal life, the less dependent the animal becomes on the cerebral hemispheres.

"Mechanisms in Obsessive Thought Development" was the subject of a report given by Dr. Wendell Hutchens, Portland.

Later he accepted the principalship of the school in Rockford, Wn., in 1923. After spending some time there he accepted a position as teacher of English at Cheney, Washington. Later in his pedagogical career he was superintendent of public schools in Coquille and acting director at the University of Oregon.

During his stay at Stanford University, he has written comprehensive studies on various subjects dealing with educational problems. Among the outstanding ones are: "Problems of the Teaching Profession," "Hygiene of the School Age" and "History of Oregon Normal Schools."

STUDY TOUR

Brownsmead; Ruth Sorseth, Lebanon; Jack Power, Gaston; Cherie May Hartwell, Bridge; Loyal Buroker, Aumsville; Mary Rodda, Gateway; Bonnie Thompson, Madras; Lena Piper, Lime; Louise Swennel-aar, Redmond; Virginia Hanse, Garibaldi; Georgia Bracken, Wasco; Jean Adams, Salem; Barbara Adams, Redmond; Samuel Dashiell, Eugene; and Charlotte Ellingsworth, Siegra Young, Rudolph Rada, Ursula Loomis, Donald Buss, Virginia Martin and Milton Bartholomy, of Oregon College of Education.

Two automobiles are needed for the tour, and those who do furnish automobiles will not be required to pay a camp fund fee.

Dr. Carls' office, room 13, physical education building, will be open for registration for the tour between 1:00 and 1:30 and between 4:30 and 5:00 Saturday afternoon, April 29. Bulletins of the trip may be obtained at the information desk.

President Churchill Retires from Office

President J. A. Churchill will retire from the presidency of OCE in September. He will remain as president emeritus of the college and as professor of education on the school's staff. He reached the age of retirement this year and has been active as an Oregon educator for nearly 50 years.

President Churchill was accorded a rising vote of tribute by the State Board of Higher Education. He was president of Southern Oregon Normal school before his appointment to Monmouth. President Churchill's career began as superintendent of Baker schools in 1891, and later he served for 13 years as state superintendent of public instruction.

Dr. C. A. Howard, president of Eastern Oregon College of Education, will succeed President Churchill.

Study ASB Finance

The associated student body of OCE assembled in Campbell hall auditorium last Tuesday to discuss student finances. President J. A. Churchill spoke briefly to the students on the matter and read a report from Mr. Stebbins, $191 being the amount of money in the treasury. The student council gave three suggestions to the students. First, cut out our athletic program and give sweaters to those who have earned them. Second, continue our athletic program but give no awards. Third, continue our program of athletics and awards and raise the money to carry it on. Discussion followed. The students voted unanimously to continue the program as it was and a committee was appointed to work with a faculty committee. This joint committee is going to suggest ways and means of raising money to carry on our activity program.

The committee members are: O. C. Christensen, J. A. Cox, H. Dodds, A. C. Stanbrough, Stanley Borden, Lenora Jensen, Jack Boon and Irvin Mead.

Meet Albany College

The OCE tennis teams plays its third match of the season on its home courts this afternoon (Friday) with Albany college of Portland. It will be the local boys' third try for a win so the odds are in their favor. If Haworth and Hayes keep their stride three of the necessary four points are assured and surely one of the other boys will come through.

Select Meeting Place

The Oregon Psychological Association voted unanimously to hold its convention at Oregon State college next year, according to Dr. L. F. Beck, University of Oregon, permanent secretary of the organization. Dr. O. R. Chambers, Oregon State college will be the chairman of the convention next year.

Club News

LA DANZA

La Danza members who attended the gathering of the creative dance organizations of various colleges at Oregon State college recently, came home with many new ideas for the dance. They learned many new exercises and exchanged views with others interested in creative dancing.

The organization will present a program for Educational Conference.

COLLECTO-COEDS

Collecto-Coeds, the service organization which promotes interest in athletics on the campus, voted four new members into the club at their last meeting. Informal initiation for the new pledges was held Tuesday evening in Campbell hall. The pledges are: Cleo Carothers, Hubbard; Juanita Harrington, St. Helens; Marjorie Jensen, Astoria and Mildred Thomas, Portland.

Pledging will last a week, with formal initiation on Tuesday, May 2.

STAFF AND KEY

At a meeting held Tuesday evening Staff and Key voted in four new members. They are Maxine Bailey, Virginia Craven, Mildred Jensen and Vera Pizzaloto.

The neophytes will furnish room 10 as a resting lounge for all those who come back for the Educational Conference. There will be a guest book in which all old members of Staff and Key may sign their names and where they are teaching. A Sunday morning breakfast, which is one of the traditions of the organization, will be held at the local hotel in honor of old members who have come back for the conference.

PHI BETA SIGMA

Fifteen new pledges were taken into Phi Beta Sigma this term. Informal initiation will last for a week, during which time all new members must bow three times to old members. Formal initiation will be held next Tuesday evening in the form of a banquet.

The new pledges are Martha May Blair, Juanita Harrington, Pauline Stein, Charlotte Ellingsworth, Ed Miller, John Spooner, Mildred Thomas, Lenora Jensen, Betty Funkhouser, Maxine Bailey, Tom Gerity, Bud Tuthill, Sterling Jensen, Ivan Ickes and Emma Frances Mulkey.

CRIMSON O NEWS

The members of Crimson O Players were entertained by the initiates at the meeting on April 14. Rosella Heppner skated her way to fame in the person of Sonja Henie, while Anita Davidson as Mae West invited the tall, dark and handsome to "come up and see me sometime". "Shirley Temple" Inlow, dressed in brown and yellow slacks and carrying a dog, sang "Animal Crackers." Ruth Begert impersonated Martha Rae and Dorothea Wilner as Kate Smith sang "God Bless America."

The club was enlightened by Professor Byron Adams who delivered his annual lecture on "Spring." Dick Lewis ably portrayed "Little Boy Blue and Helen Versum played the part of an old maid—cat, class eye, and all. In typical tobacco auctioneer style, Myron Vleck "sold American" and Charles Coleman, as a bandit, held up and robbed his fellow Crimson O members.

The new members then took part in cracker-eating and balloon-blowing contests, after which there was dancing and refreshments were served.

OMICRON PI OMEGA

The first meeting of the Omicron Pi Omega for the spring term was a tea held in the music room at Jessica Todd hall on April 13 from 4:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret Adair, president of the organization, spoke a few words of greeting, after which Miss Laura Taylor talked briefly about the educational conference. Doris Trubey entertained with some piano selections.

Those present were Velma Woody, Marie Petersen, Pearle Ford, Josephine Howard, Evelyn Fuerstenau, Kathleen Larson, Flossie Conaway, Blanche Sears, Cecelia O'Leary, Grace Katka, Margaret Seal, Doris Trubey, Elizabeth Plummer, Margaret Morris, Margaret Adair, Miss Laura Taylor, Marie Mitchell, Mrs. Earl C. Payne, Mrs. E. Collingswood and Mrs. Della Keeney.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

The Campfire girls of the Oregon College of Education held a meeting Monday, April 17, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. Evelyn Shearer was elected president; Betty Ann Wright, vice-president; Dorothea Wilner, secretary; Annamae Holverstott, treasurer and Diantha Stewart, scribe.

The Campfire girls are planning an outdoor supper and game evening sometime in the near future at which the new officers will be installed.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Among other things discussed at the last student council meeting was the student body constitution. After much discussion the council decided to wait until the last meeting of the year and then compile all the suggestions and information gathered this year and file it away for the student council of next year. This procedure was taken in the hope that next year the student council will have something upon which to work. The constitution will be drawn up some time early next fall.

The council also announced that the names of students to receive service award sweaters will be announced during All Parents weekend.

INDEP. TRAINING SCHOOL

Music teachers in the Independence training school are busy preparing children for an operetta to be given in May and a music festival on May 5. The seventh and eighth grades, under the direction of Miss Grettie, are learning songs and dances to be given both at the festival and in the operetta. Other music teachers are Miss Smith, Miss Corbett, Mr. Rada, Miss Turnbull, Miss Johnson and Miss Muhr.

The seventh and eighth grade boys see a struggle looming in the near future between each other, with the baseball season underway. The future championship team remains to be seen.

Miss Ostlund's seventh grade classes show acting ability, as proved by their pantomiming act a few days past.

Willamette Victor In Baseball Series

A third inning rally put Willamette university safely out in front for an 8 to 5 win over the Wolves in a game played in Salem April 21. Like Willamette, the Wolves made their runs in the first and third innings. OCE began the scoring when Szedlak drew a walk, advanced to second on Tuthill's sacrifice, and scored on Charles' single. Hits by O'Connell and Brandon brought two more across the plate, Charles and O'Connell.

In their half, Willamette's Lonergon singled but was out at third when Stewart's tap was used against him. Shinn's circuit clout scored Stewart ahead of him.

Szedlak led the third inning rally with a double. Tuthill walked but was forced at second on Charles' easy roller. O'Connell doubled to score Szedlak and Charles stole the plate for the final run.

For Willamette Shinn, first man up, walked. With two down he scored on Gentzkow's single. Farthing allowed singles to Pierce, Robertson and Lonergon and a double to Stewart. The sum total was six runs.

In the remainder of the game Anton allowed the Wolves but one hit and Ceregrino, replacing Farthing in the fourth allowed Willamette but two hits.

Tennis Team Loses

The OCE tennis team took its second setback of the season, 2 to 5, at the hands of the Pacific university netmen. Haworth and Hayes, top men for OCE, breezed through their singles matches, but the three lower bracket men suffered setbacks. The doubles teams finished the day's double header in the late twilight on the short end of the score to cinch the victory for Pacific.

Haworth, OCE, beat Price, Pacific, 6-2, 6-2; Hayes, OCE, beat Hutchins, Pacific, 6-0, 6-3; Elder, Pacific, beat Chase, OCE, 6-2, 3-6, 9-7; Keller, Pacific, beat Ickes, OCE, 6-3, 6-2; Gordon, Pacific, beat Marsh, OCE, 6-0, 2-6, 6-1. Doubles: Price and Keller, Pacific, beat Hayes and Haworth, OCE, 7-5; 5-7, 6-4; Keller and Hutchins, Pacific, beat Chase and Ickes, OCE, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4.

Survey Reveal Educational Trends And Practices Throughout Nation

For many years schools of education and teacher-training institutions have been advocating changed procedures in the public schools with regard to providing more adequately for individual instruction, for closer relationships between parent and school and for an increased professional growth on the part of staff members. In fact, this advocacy has been so long continued as to justify the assumption that in these respects modern educational practice must, by this time, measurably conform to modern educational theory. To discover the extent to which these changed procedures are actually being followed became the project of a committee of normal school supervisors to the end that those engaged in elementary teacher training work might know more definitely what conditions graduates of teacher-training institutions may face as they begin their professional service.

To study what was really being done concerning the procedures mentioned above and to ascertain facts rather than the theories and wishes of those engaged in education, a questionnaire of 51 items was prepared, offering the responding teachers and supervisors not only an opportunity to check the trends toward which they had concrete evidence that they had been working in the past 10 years, but also a space for citing a representative example of the use of that specific trend in their own schools. There 51 items were grouped under three main headings; trends toward greater provision for individual differences, trends in parent education and trends providing for professional growth. The provisions for individual differences was divided into five sections: namely, the daily schedule, curriculum content, physical environment, materials and classification.

The distribution of these questionnaires was made in two ways; two to each state, the cities selected at random, and 50 acquaintances.

This study was designed to separate, if possible, what we are actually doing from what we have hoped to do by requiring illustrations of specific cases to show that trends were being followed. A very good geographical distribution from the various states was received (44 out of 48) and a fairly high percentage of questionnaires were returned (71 per cent). The analysis was made arbitrarily on systems serving a population 10,000 and 100,000 to note the effect of size of city upon these various trends.

Most schools, as shown by this study, are using more flexible daily programs and more creative activities in both skill development and in teaching subject-matter content. Considerable more freedom is allowed the teacher in interpreting the course of study than formerly. A greater provision in hobby development and more relationship between the child's experience and his learning problems are afforded in both the larger and smaller city systems. No significant tendency toward either the elimination of specific subjects or the elimination of drill periods is noted. Noticeable trends toward ample provision for playgrounds and for comfortable adjustable school furniture continue. Better reading facilities afford wider reading materials at the various levels and a greater variety of materials for creative work are major trends. Tests are being used in a diagnostic and guidance function rather than to determine promotion. Parent education programs are more closely geared to the class work of the school than previously. In-service professional growth is being stressed, but the trend toward specifically trained elementary school administrators is weak.

—V. V. Caldwell.

Grateful acknowledgement is made to Misses Clara Trotter, Emma Henkle, La Vada Reed, Anne O'Neill and Mrs. Sophia E. Barnum, supervisors of training, of Oregon Normal School, for assistance in the formulation of the questionnaires and in their distribution.

Faculty News

Ellis A. Stebbins was in Camas, Wn., last week to attend a family reunion in honor of his father's 84th birthday. There are six children in the family of which Mr. Stebbins is the youngest.

On Thursday afternoon, April 20, Miss Dora Scheffsky, Dr. J. N. Carls, H. E. Inlow, Ursula Loomis and Rudy Rada presented a radio program over station KOAC in Corvallis. The program concerned the study tour which Dr. Carls and Miss Scheffsky are conducting this summer. The question and answer method was used. This is one of the series of broadcasts for elementary teachers, sponsored by the department of service extension of which Mr. Inlow is in charge.

Dr. J. F. Santee addressed the Parent-Teachers association meeting at Philomath on Friday, April 14.

Mrs. Florence Hutchinson, Mrs. Delia Keeney and Miss Clara Trotter attended the joint luncheon of the valley P.E.O. fraternities in Salem on Saturday, April 22.

Miss Maude Macpherson attended the librarians' council meeting in Eugene on Saturday, April 22. The council is composed of the librarians of the three Oregon Colleges of Education, Oregon State college, the University of Oregon and the Medical school.

To the committee composed of Miss Katherine Arbuthnot, Miss Edna Mingus and Miss Helen Anderson goes the credit for the array of tulips behind the OCE administration building. Those who have not seen them should take a few minutes to look at the yellow, red, pink and purple blossoms. The committee has also planted Oriental poppies, snapdragons, zinnias and delphiniums behind the building to improve the appearance of the grounds.

During the psychological conference on Saturday, April 15, Dr. L. E. Forbes entertained a group of psychologists at a luncheon. Those attending were the Doctors E. R. Guthrie, William Griffith, H. R. Taylor, O. R. Chambers, Robert Keeper, J. W. Sherburne, L. F. Buck, V. V. Caldwell, and the host.

Attending the western division of the Progressive Teachers' conference in Portland on April 7 and 8 were Miss Anne O'Neill, Miss Emma Henkle, Mrs. Sophia Barnum and Miss Dora Gallagher of the OCE. Among the speakers were Dr. Taba of the University of Chicago, Dr. L. H. Meek of the University of California and Dr. Alice Keliher of the National Department of Education in Washington, D.C. The conference ended with a luncheon on the Reed college campus.

Miss Helen Anderson's father, Captain Charles J. Anderson, is visiting her for a few days.

Mrs. Helen Anderson has received a sample of "knaepaek," a Japanese bread from the East Indies restaurant on Treasure Island from the San Francisco world's fair. Her Shakespeare classes were given an opportunity to taste the curious bread, thus studying Henry V with refreshments.

Tuesday, April 11, Miss Hilda Swenson, Miss Alabama Brenton, Miss Ida Mae Smith and Miss Laura Taylor entertained the Monmouth, Dallas, Independence and rural women's Civic clubs at a tea at Jessica Todd hall. Miss Katherine Arbuthnot talked on the book entitled "Grandma Called it Carnal."

Miss Eloise Buck and Mrs. Beulah S. Thornton attended the Oregon speech conference held at the Heathman hotel in Portland on Saturday, April 15. Mrs. Thornton presided at the afternoon meeting.

Attending the program given by Ted Shawn and his dancers in Corvallis on the evening of April 12 were: Miss Katherine Arbuthnot, Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Barrows, Miss Lois Criswell, Miss Grace Mitchell and Mrs. Beulah S. Thornton.

Miss Anne O'Neill, Miss Eloise Buck and Mrs. Beulah S. Thornton attended the stage play, "The White Oaks of Jalna" in which Ethel Barrymore starred. Miss Barrymore appeared in this play in Portland two weeks ago.

Fashions

Tweeds are more popular this spring than ever before and, talking about tweeds, did you notice the tailored tweed coat that Waneta Cook was wearing at the social hour Friday night? Jeanne Appleberry was also very attractive that evening in a black sleeveless cape coat. Ellen Lentz, with a princess style suit of aqua marine, attracted a great deal of attention.

Printed dresses are becoming more popular as warm weather comes. Margaret McDonald, Virginia Davis and Lila Hellberg blossomed forth last week with very attractive prints.

Formal dresses of every color and style were worn at the formal on Saturday evening. Although there were many striking colors, white was the most prominent. Miss Eloise

Buck, a patroness, was lovely in a pink colored chiffon with rhinestone accessories.

Defeat Linfield

Oregon College of Education defeated Linfield college 13 to 3, April 18, on Butler field on the strength of a fifth inning rally that drove seven runs across the plate. The damage was done off singles by Ellingsworth and O'Connell, a triple by Tuthill and a flock of errors by the Linfield infield.

Miller held the visitors to four hits in the six innings he pitched, and Farthing allowed three in the last three. Szediak made the best hitting record of the day. Carl hit twice and walked twice in five trips

Grade Average Makes Record

The measuring rod for educational achievement has revealed certain rather startling facts and interesting bits of information. One of the first things we noticed was that the grades for the winter quarter were much better than those of last fall term. Maybe the library has become a fascinating habitat for more of us. The greatest element of surprise was the unusually high grades made by the men's houses.

Here are the averages as released to the Lamron staff: Mrs. D. L. Williams' house, 2.76; Arnold Arms, 2.56; White hall, 2.53; and Jessica Todd hall, 2.52, for the women's houses. The grade point averages for men's residences were as follows: Wallulah Annex, 2.93; C. C. Mulkey, 2.63; West House, 2.51, and Mrs. W. A. Buss, 2.44.

We found after an extensive investigation that the 2.93 average, which is practically a "B" for the whole house, made by the Wallulah Annex boys, is the highest ever made on this campus. Those boys in the Wallulah Annex certainly deserve recognition. The personnel of the group is: Lowell Chase, Hillsboro; Jim Davies, Los Angeles; A. Dickson, Oregon City; Hal Hankle, Sheridan; Eugene Ritner, Sheridan and Herbert Vent, Modesto, Calif.
